But Why Can't I Read A Book From the Other Shelf?

Challenging Talented Readers

Sally M. Reis
Strategies to Challenge Talented Readers

• High interest teacher book hooks
• Compacting in basic skills and replacement with challenging reading
• Freedom, but guidance to select appropriately challenging books—advanced content in areas of personal interest—some supported struggle daily—early intervention
• Quiet space during regularly scheduled time to read without distraction
• Advanced reading strategies applied to challenging books
• Higher order questions with wait time for thoughtful responses
• Reflection and practice and follow-up reflection on self-regulation strategies used for challenging reading

Choral Reading

Waiting to Read

Waiting for others to catch up
Miss Caroline writes the alphabet on the board and Scout reads it through easily. Suspicious, Miss Caroline asks Scout to read from the reader and from the local paper. Then she forbids Scout to let Atticus teach her to read anymore. Miss Caroline tells her she can not read at home anymore. Scout explains she doesn't remember learning how to read, but it seems she always knew how. When Miss Caroline forbids her to continue reading, Scout realizes how important it is to her: "Until I feared I would lose it, I never loved to read. One does not love breathing."
“a complex and purposeful socio-cultural, cognitive, and linguistic process in which readers simultaneously use their knowledge of spoken and written language, their knowledge of the topic of the text, and their knowledge of their culture to construct meaning with text.”

(National Council of Teachers of English, 2004)
Differences between SEM-R and other Reading Programs

- Focus on the joy found in reading
- Increasing levels of challenge in reading
- Increased self-regulation in reading
- Acknowledging and celebrating students’ interests
- Deeper more complex conversations about reading
- Higher level thinking skills and questioning
- Individualized instruction on a regular basis during Phase 2
Many (but not all) talented readers read early

- Read at least two grade levels above chronological grade placement
- Begin reading early and may be self-taught
Talented readers enjoy the process of reading

- Read avidly and with enjoyment
- Use reading differently for different purposes
- Thirst for insight and knowledge through reading
- Pursue varied interests in texts
- View books as a way to explore the richness of life

- Seek and enjoy depth and complexity in reading
- Develop a deeper understanding of particular topics through reading
- Demonstrate preferences for non-fiction
- Pursue interest-based reading opportunities
Talented readers have advanced language skills.

- Enjoy the subtleties and complexities of language
- Demonstrate advanced understanding of language
- Use expansive vocabulary
- Use reading to acquire a large repertoire of language skills
- Use language for humor
- Display verbal ability in self-expression
- Use colorful and descriptive phrasing
- Demonstrate ease in use of language
Talented readers demonstrate advanced processing skills

- Retain a large quantity of information for retrieval
- Automatically integrate prior knowledge in reading
- Utilize higher-order thinking skills such as analysis and synthesis
- Process information and thoughts at an accelerated pace
- Synthesize ideas in a comprehensive way
- Perceive unusual relationships
- Grasp complex ideas and nuances
Three Goals of SEM-R

- To increase enjoyment in reading
- To improve reading fluency, comprehension, and increase reading achievement
- To encourage students to pursue challenging independent reading
2005 Hasbrouck & Tindal Oral Reading Fluency Data

Jan Hasbrouck and Gerald Tindal completed an extensive study of oral reading fluency in 2004. The results of their study are published in a technical report entitled, "Oral Reading Fluency: 90 Years of Measurement," which is available on the University of Oregon's website, brt.uoregon.edu/tech_reports.htm.

This table shows the oral reading fluency rates of students in grades 1 through 8 as determined by Hasbrouck and Tindal's data.

You can use the information in this table to draw conclusions and make decisions about the oral reading fluency of your students. Students scoring below the 50th percentile using the average score of two unpracticed readings from grade-level materials need a fluency-building program. In addition, teachers can use the table to set the long-term fluency goals for their struggling readers.

Average weekly improvement is the average words per week growth you can expect from a student. It was calculated by subtracting the fall score from the spring score and dividing the difference by 32, the typical number of weeks between the fall and spring assessments. For grade 1, since there is no fall assessment, the average weekly improvement was calculated by subtracting the winter score from the spring score and dividing the difference by 16, the typical number of weeks between the winter and spring assessments.

Type I Activities
Teacher Read Aloud Guidelines in Phase One

- Use a book you enjoy.
- Match the book to your audience.
- Illustrate reading strategies.
- Change intonation, speed, and volume.
- Leave them wanting to hear more.
- Scaffold higher level skills.
- Choose multiple books by the same author.
- Change genres and styles often.
- Utilize great books on tape.
- Invite special guest readers.

Character

What gift would you like to give the main character? Why?

Illustrate some of the similarities between two or more characters.

How might you rewrite this story to include one of your friends as a character?

If you were the author, what further episodes, events, or discoveries would you have the characters participate in?

Setting

List all the places that the story took place.

Think of six words that describe a setting from the story.

Why did the author place the story in this location?

Do you think the setting for this story was real or imaginary? Why?

Locate the probable location for the story on a map. If the setting is imaginary, draw it.

Setting

Why was the setting an appropriate place for this story to take place?

Do you think the author would enjoy writing a story that took place where you live? Why?

Would you want to live in a setting similar to the story location?

How might your parents or friends react to living in the story setting?

Phase 2

Supported Independent Reading using individual conferences and differentiated reading instruction
Supported Independent Reading was not sustained silent reading
Individualizing and Differentiating Conferences

It is important to remember that not all students will need the same strategy instruction at the very same time, but that all students need some instruction if they are reading a book that is adequately challenging. For that reason, be sure that strategy instruction is integrated throughout conferences and differentiated to meet the needs of individual students.
Phase 2 is a time that the students can’t wait for. Being able to sit anywhere in the class, in any position that they want helps them to really dive deep into their reading.
Self-Regulated Learning

First, self-regulation of behavior
• active control of various resources students have available—such as time, study environment—where they study
• use of peers and faculty members to help

Second, self-regulation of motivation and affect
• controlling and changing motivational beliefs such as self-efficacy and goal orientation
• controlling emotions and affect in ways that improve learning.

Third, self-regulation of cognition
• control of various cognitive strategies for learning such as the use of deep processing strategies for better learning and increased performance.
Rules for SIR

- You must have a book to read
- If you aren’t enjoying a book and have given it a fair chance (10 pages!), ask someone to help you choose a new one.
- Remain in your reading area during SIR
- Only reading is happening
- Books must be appropriately challenging
- Do your best reading the whole time
Phase Two Goals

- Students will...
  - Enjoy reading books of their own selection
  - Read appropriately challenging books (1 to 1.5 above their current reading level)
  - Develop self-regulation skills to enable them to read appropriately challenging books for at least 25-35 minutes each day
  - Have individualized reading instruction that is tailored to each student’s needs
Having them read out of their comfort zone (current reading level or lower) has proven to stretch their minds in ways that have amazed me. They have learned how to select books that are a challenge to them, and devour them, to only quickly get another that is on their reading list.
I have seen gains in their fluency, comprehension, as well as word skills. It is truly amazing.
What does an individual conference look like?

1. Begin by reviewing the student’s log
2. Inquire about the book
3. Invite the student to read a paragraph or two to you aloud
What does an individual conference look like?

4. Ask the student a series of questions to spark discussion and enable you to assess comprehension
   a. Provide support in helping students with decoding and fluency
   b. Foster comprehension through strategy development integrated and differentiated throughout conferences
      i. Synthesizing
      ii. Making inferences
      iii. Making connections – help students make connections to understand difficult material
      iv. Determining importance
      v. Visualizing
      vi. Questioning – help students clarify the questions in their mind as they read
      vii. Metacognition – help students identify when they are having trouble concentrating or understanding and why
What does an individual conference look like?

c. Evaluate the appropriateness of the student’s book selection for comprehension and sophistication of ideas and content

d. Suggest possibilities for further reading and pursuits

5. Record your meeting

Conferences Provide:

Support for each student’s needs -

• Enthusiasm about books
  • Reading skill development
  • Interest-based reading opportunities
  • Self-regulation/monitoring
  • Increasing ability to focus

Opportunity to assess reading level and book match

Thoughtful conversations about literature

Opportunities to use higher order thinking skill questions from bookmarks

Differentiation for students in skills, questions, and book selection for OPTIMAL CHALLENGE!
The one on one five minute conferences are the best way for me to monitor each child’s unique learning needs, and be able to use strategies individually for each student that benefits them the most.
I chose to go to them for the conferences to help make them feel more comfortable, and keep them in their reading mode with the least interruption.
After our conference is done they pick up where they left off, and stay glued to the book until time is up, at which time everyone MOANS!
I am able to stretch their minds with the higher level questions that I used in every conference. I absolutely love the bookmarks, and placed them on rings to use.

Classroom Management

- Strategies to support self-regulation
  - Suns and Clouds
  - Teacher moving around the classroom
  - Have students use post-its when they have a question about a word
  - Students who are really struggling:
    - Personal timer (10 minutes)
    - Listen to books on CD
    - Get up, get a drink, stretch
Classroom Management

• Set ground rules:
  – State your expectations in advance of the conferences
  – Keep conference interruptions to a minimum

• Let the students decide how long reading time is. When the majority of students have lost focus, time is up.

TIP
Pay attention to student interests and what is important to them (Renzulli)

... and show them how what interests are connected to reading!
Technology and Phase 3
E-books:
Books available to read online

Example:

Little Women by Louisa May Alcott

CHAPTER ONE

"Christmas won't be Christmas without any presents," grumbled Jo, lying on the rug. "It's so dreadful to be poor!" sighed Meg, looking down at her old dress. "I don't think it's fair for some girls to have plenty of pretty things, and other girls nothing at all,“ added little Amy, with an injured sniff.

Some Options for Phase 3 Implementation

DAILY
- 15 - 20 minutes
- 1 center per day
- Small chunks of time

WEEKLY
- 60 minutes
- Multiple Centers OR Focused Investigation

BI-WEEKLY
- 30 minutes
- Twice a Week
- 2 Centers per day
- Start small (2-3 choices)
- Organize supportive environment
  - Interest Development Centers
  - Pre-planned Creativity Activities
  - CD Listening/Reading Center
- Set clear performance standards; perceived by students as attainable

Welcome to Google Lit Trips!

A Different Way to Read Great Literature!
This site is an experiment in teaching great literature in a very different way. Using Google Earth, students discover where in the world the greatest road trip stories of all time took place... and so much more!

Conference Presentations
Connecting Phase 1 to Phase 3
With Frank Lloyd Wright as your guide, design a house online:

Choose a client and a location, then apply your imagination to the challenges of architectural design. You can see your design take shape, then walk through a virtual 3D model of it. How well will your house satisfy the client’s needs? How well does it suit its location? Submit your house to the design gallery so the world can see it—and rate it!

The Design Studio requires a fast Internet connection to download big 3D models for your house. We also recommend a pretty fast computer (1 Ghz or faster). For older computers or slower connections, try the non-3D version.
Franklin’s learning styles of games and technology are engaged by these selected activities…

Critical Thinking

Escape to Freedom
Travel back in time to a dangerous and divided world: America in the mid-19th century when slavery was in full effect. "Escape to Freedom" is a game, and a powerful picture of how things were.

The Underground Railroad Derby takes students back to a time that is still mysterious and strange to many -- America in the mid-19th century when slavery was in full effect. "Escape to Freedom" provides students with a compelling backdrop for an on-line investigation into some difficult but necessary subject matter.

Our Teacher's Guide includes suggestions for incorporating the Derby into your classroom and provides you with a wide assortment of age-appropriate classroom extensions and related off-line activities.

Even if you're still new to the Internet, you'll find that this teaching aid will bring history alive, as it gets your students excited about...
SEM-R Results

Significant differences favoring the SEM-R treatment group in:

Reading Fluency
Reading Comprehension
Self-regulation in reading and task commitment in reading

- Challenge vs. comfort
- Ability of students to enjoy challenge and develop self-regulation in reading appropriately challenging material
Findings related to self-regulation in and task commitment in reading

Pre - % of students reading 30-40 minutes a day 10%

Post - % of students reading 30-40 minutes a day
95%
In the SEM-R, our focus was on helping children shift from LEARNING TO READ to READING TO LEARN!
The Right Match

In the beginning my kids looked at me as if I had two heads when I took the books away from them and told them that they were reading a book that was too easy for them.

—4th grade treatment teacher
In the beginning, I did not realize how much middle of the road reading instruction I did and how few of my kids I really challenged.
At first, I just wanted them to finish a book. Then I became more confident and would say, Come on now, that is just too easy for you. They would smile, because they knew I was right.

5th grade treatment teacher
A focus of our work in The Schoolwide Enrichment Model is to increase enrichment opportunities and achievement and provide differentiated instruction for all students, the core of SEM-R.

A rising tide lifts all ships...
Strategies to Challenge Talented Readers

- High interest teacher book hooks
- Compacting in basic skills and replacement with challenging reading
- Freedom, but guidance to select appropriately challenging books--advanced content in areas of personal interest--some supported struggle daily
- Quiet space and regularly scheduled time to read without distraction
- Advanced reading strategies applied to challenging books
- Higher order questions with wait time for thoughtful responses
- Reflection and practice and follow-up reflection on self-regulation strategies used for challenging reading
